Marshall wants Harrelle out

SOUTH BAY - South Bay City Commissioner Willie Marshall wants City Manager Max Harrelle dismissed and says he plans to make a motion to that end at the next city commission meeting July 18.

Harrelle apparently doesn't intend to mount much of a defense or to try to reach a compromise with the disgruntled first-term commissioner.

Marshall made his intentions clear at a special commission meeting Tuesday, July 5.

After approving a change order in a street paving project, and approving the purchase of a rebuilt engine for a city fire engine, Marshall asked Harrelle who approved construction of a building on a 50 foot wide lot on NE 11th Street.

"I did," said Harrelle. Harrelle of approving construction on lots the city code prohibits construction on.

Harrelle said he has always approved construction on fifty lots in the city if those lots had been in the city prior to the adoption of an ordinance prohibiting it.

Marshall said Harrelle was lying and said he thought the city would be better off if Harrelle wasn't city manager.

"I think we'd be going forward a lot more if you weren't driving," said Marshall.

"That's your prerogative," said Harrelle, who denied Marshall's allegations.

"That's what I'm doing then," said Marshall. He moved that Harrelle be dismissed, then continued his discussion with the city manager before any second could be made.

Later, Marshall said he would make his motion at the regular meeting to give all the commissioners "a chance to think about it."

He said Harrelle had impeded progress in the city by hoarding funds that could have been used to pave roads or retain the services of former Police Chief Charles Forrest.

Forrest left the South Bay police department this Spring after the commission cut his salary. His salary decrease was supposed to be in conjunction with a decrease in responsibilities after a fire chief was hired.

Harrelle denied he stood in the way of the commission retaining Forrest's salary.

He also said he suggested the city not spend money on repaving streets that were scheduled for repaving under the Palm Beach Community Development program.

"When you asked me how much money we had, didn't I tell you?" asked Harrelle.

"Yes you did," said Marshall, who still wouldn't back off from his request that the commissioners consider Harrelle's dismissal.

"I hope that they make the decision as to whether you are driving the truck right or not," said Marshall.

"I have to disagree with you," said Mayor Donald Tanner.

"I don't care whether you agree with me or not," said Marshall. "You never agree with anything I say."

"Yes I do," Tanner replied.

"If you look around you will see this city has gone further in the past few years..."

"I don't see it," interrupted Marshall.

"Then you've been driving around with your eyes closed."

Tanner closed the meeting, but Marshall continued his verbal attacks on Harrelle as the commissioners left the meeting.

Harrelle told Marshall that he has been honest and cooperative with the commission, but Marshall left seeking saying he was "tired of going through this same old crap."

Council examining charters

PAHOKEE - City council members are examining the charters of two Florida cities in an attempt to formulate a referendum on changing Pahokee's form of government.

City Attorney Mike Stauder provided the council members with copies of the charters from Coconut Creek and Venice at the last council meeting, June 30.

He said both the cities are similar in size to Pahokee.

Councilman Walter Rashley said he was trying to obtain a copy of the Belle Glade charter so the council could also examine it.

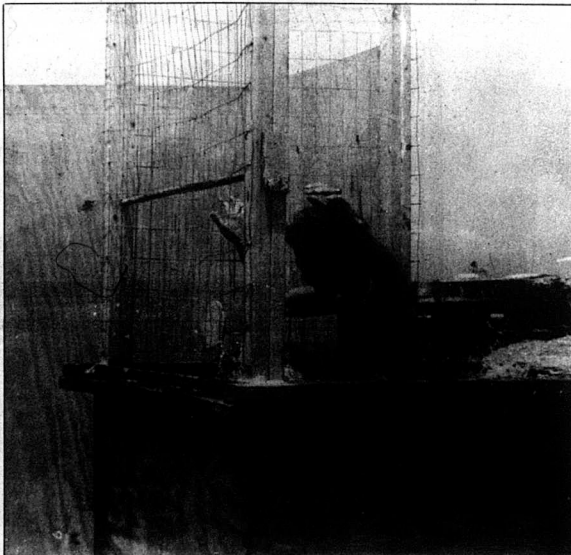

The council is considering presenting a binding referendum to the citizens in an attempt to change the government from a strong mayor-city council form to a city manager form.

A similar attempt two years ago was defeated in a non-binding referendum.

Stauder said he could keep his fees lower if the council decided to present a charter almost identical to one of those already in use because all he would have to do then in preparing the referendum would be to copy the charter.

He said if the council decides to use parts of different charters or add some new proposals or ideas, he would have to charge more because of the time spent on it.

A workshop has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 12 to give the council members an opportunity to discuss the proposals.

PAHOKEE Councilman Walter Rashley takes a plunge into the Lions Club's dunk tank at the Pahokee Freedom Festival Monday, July 4. The dunk tank was just one of many festivities planned for the day. Other activities included a traditional fireworks display, food booths and two ski shows. A couple thousand viewed the fireworks that evening.

Public may tour new ER this Sunday

BELLE GLADE - Open house for the new emergency room at Glades General Hospital is scheduled for Sunday, July 10 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., even though final touches are still being made to the facility.

Hospital Assistant Administrator Catherine Williams said the new facility is an important health care addition to the community and that it has the capabilities of a major trauma center.

The new 7,383 square foot facility, which replaces the old facility built in 1965, has 10 treatment rooms, most of which are specialized.

"The employees of Glades General are proud of the new ER," said Williams. Displays will be set up in each specialty room and the community may come out and tour the facility and the entire hospital.

Dolls depicting infants will be on display in the ER pediatric room while the respiratory therapy staff will demonstrate adult and infant ventilators, electroencephalogram and cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques in one of the major trauma rooms. The treadmill exercise machine will also be on display.

Free blood typing will be conducted in the emergency room laboratory.

Regina Atkinson, the hospital social worker, will be available to answer questions on social work or services available at Glades General.

Atkinson said the department will also have a display table with brochures and information on various community resources.

Two facing charges for hit-and-run

BELLE GLADE - A 16 year old juvenile from South Bay is apparently responsible for the accident that left a local pharmacist lying critically injured at the side of a road earlier this year.

According to Detective Cliff Simonds of the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, the juvenile was arrested and confessed to the hit-and-run incident last Wednesday, June 29.

The juvenile has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident involving personal injury and willful and wantful wreckless driving and placed in the juvenile detention center in West Palm Beach, said Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Thomas Smith.

Benjamin Rosario, 19, of Lake Worth, has also been charged with willful and wantful wreckless driving. He drove a second vehicle involved in the incident.

The charges stem from the May 6 accident in which Joe Hughes, a local pharmacist, was struck by an automobile while he was jogging on the Hooker Highway extension.

One officer with the Highway Patrol said he started the investigation as a homicide because at the time it didn't look as if Hughes would survive the incident.

Hughes, 44, did survive and was present at the press conference announcing the arrests.

"Frankly, I was very surprised," he said of the arrests. "I thought it would be six months to a year before they started coming up with information. Normally after something like that, everybody freezes up and you can't get any information."

"I don't know a lot about what went on, but what I have heard about and what I do know, I have been impressed. And I don't impress that easily," Hughes said of the law enforcement investigation in the matter.

Simonds said he found out through a confidential source about two weeks ago that at least two people involved in the incident were still in town.

He said he picked up Wilfredo Castillo, 19, of 210 SW Second Avenue in South Bay June 29 and questioned him about the incident.

Castillo, it turned out, was a passenger in the Rosario automobile which was drag racing the automobile which struck Hughes.

Castillo apparently told Simonds that he and Rosario were riding through the Osceola housing project May 6 looking for someone to drag race.

They were eventually followed by the automobile driven by the 16-year old.

The two cars went out to Hooker extension and passed Hughes on the way to the dike.

Castillo apparently told Simonds that they discussed driving carefully because of the jogger on the road.

The two automobile drivers set up and took off down the road toward SR 715.

When they approached Hughes, Rosario apparently braked and slowed down but the juvenile panicked and struck Hughes with the right front headlight, the right outside mirror and the passenger window.

The car slid down the embankment and into a cane field.

The individuals left the scene because of fright and didn't report the incident because they weren't sure whether Hughes had died or not, said Simonds.

Hughes is recovering from the injuries he sustained from the accident. He said he could go back to work now, but he's going to wait until he experiences a fuller recovery.

TROOPER Tom Smith matches a mirror found at the hit-and-run scene in May with the fittings on a door of the suspect's vehicle. Two individuals, one a juvenile, are facing charges in connection with the incident. The investigation is still underway, according to law enforcement personnel.

Crockett chikée dedicated

BELLE GLADE -- Memories and history were shared when the Crockett Chikée was dedicated Tuesday, July 5.

The chikée was built by members of the Seminole Indian tribe to honor Joe Crockett's contribution to the building of the Indians' beef cattle herd.

Crockett has retired from the University of Florida.

On hand to dedicate the newly built chikée were F.M. Pate, a professor of animal science at the Agricultural Research and Experiment Station two miles east of Belle Glade; Cecil Johns, the new president of the Seminole Tribe of Florida, Inc.; Stanlo Johns, tribal council representative from the Brighton Reservation and Mitchel Cypress, the representative from the Big Cypress Reservation.

Crockett was also present. The chikée was built entirely with materials and labor from the reservations. The poles in the structure were donated from the Big Cypress Reservation and the fronds that cover the roof are from the Brighton Reservation.

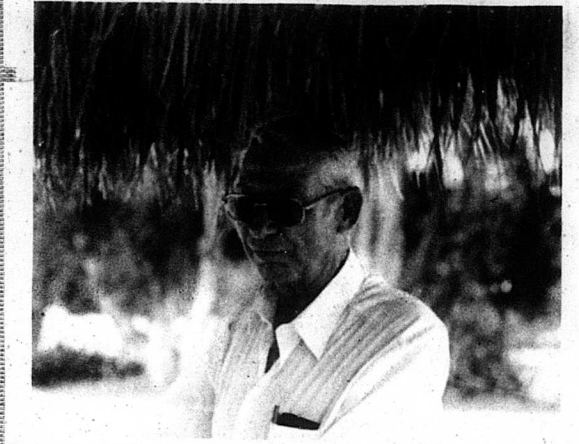

Glades General Hospital's family cordially invites you and your family to an Open House on July 10th from 2 pm until 5 pm in our New Emergency Room located on the Southwest Corner of the hospital.

Fire destroys office

BELLE GLADE -- Dowdell. Police and fire fighting personnel are investigating a fire at a local automobile dealership earlier this week.

According to Belle Glade Police Department Detective Albert Dowdell, a fire started in the bathroom of a trailer at Edwards Used Cars at 801 NW 16th Street in Belle Glade at about 3:15 a.m. Monday, July 4.

Fire severely damaged the trailer which housed an office, said

JOE CROCKETT speaks at the dedication of the chikée built to honor his contributions to the Seminole Tribe's beef cattle herd.

Emergency room

The obstetrical unit will display new born receiving units and x-rays of fetal sonograms. Literature on pre-natal and infant care will also be available.

A film on radiology will be shown continuously in the x-ray room.

A video cassette recording of a typical day's work in GGH's pharmacy will also be shown. The film explains the unit dose system and the hospital's new IV additive program.

An advance life support vehicle will also be present for tours.

"And What Not"

What's gourmet?

What I want to know is, how can you tell what is gourmet cooking? At our house it was anything you put mushrooms in or marshmallows on, but I don't think that's how epicures know a delight from plain eats.

After leaving through a cookbook on haute cuisine, though, I think I've got some clues, or at least theories, about it all.

That word "haute" is one pretty good clue. It means "high" in French, even if it does look like "hot." So maybe a recipe gets gourmetized if it's written in French. Or at least part of it. A smattering, that is. Which in French is "soupon," not soupçon, as any plain eats person might think.

Now you take a chilled mousse, which is a pudding with class. If you call it "cold mouse" nobody will eat it in any language. You have to call it cold mouse and that somehow makes it more palatable, for reasons that escape me.

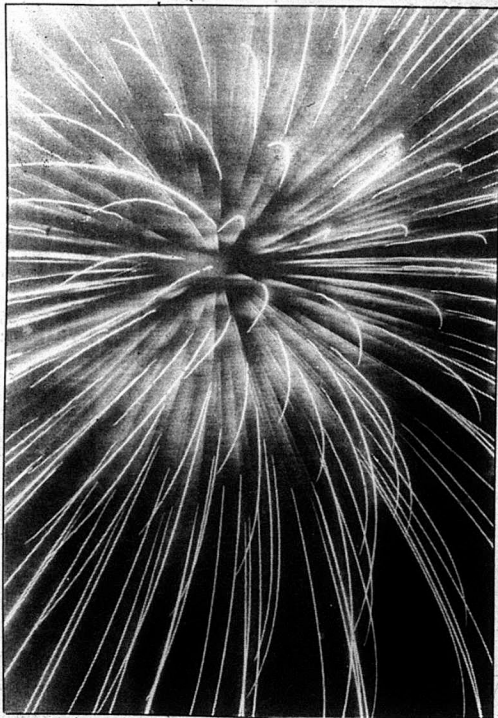

Wine is essential in gourmet recipes. I've noticed, which is possibly another reason it's called high cooking. Too much sherry spoils the cooks, so to speak.

The wine may be red or white, but Ripple doesn't cut it, apparently. For myself, I always thought I could like Lobster Thermidor if they left out the wine and called it creamed fish.

It may be that a recipe gets classed as gourmet when it takes more than six bowls to mix it in, since any I've glanced through take at least that many. Each ingredient gets its own bowl and you fiddle in one, delicately fold in another, whisk in a third, and so on. There's no place in the gourmet kitchen for a one-bowl, one-spoon cook such as myself.

In fact, I suspect my whole approach to cooking would give a gourmet gastronomical nightmares. My kitchen tested recipes only have to meet two criteria: Does it take longer to cook than eat (if so, turn the page) and is there enough salt in it.

Gourmets seem to be given to having "adventures in eating." I guess I'll never know about that. It's all more of an adventure in cooking than I'm ready for.

FIREWORKS were set off to culminate the July 4 celebration at the Pahokee Harbor. A large crowd attended the event.

BOILER PLATE

A crotchety old man...

At the risk of sounding like a crotchety old man, I'd like to share some of my pet peeves with you.

Punk rock. This abomination has a mechanical beat, inane lyrics, and little inspiration.

Even worse are the punk rock videos manufactured to be shown on television. Now, we even get to watch this junk. Whatever happened to melody and lyrics?

At least my generation had Elvis and the Beatles.

And the previous generation had Frank Sinatra and Glenn Miller.

How could anyone ever be nostalgic about the Sex Pistols or Flock of Seagulls?

Loud mufflers. Not the heavy plaid neck scarves they wear up north in winter, but rather the devices which are supposed to quieten internal combustion engines.

Loud mufflers turn some people on. They pull up in their pickup next to little old ladies returning home with a sack of groceries, wind up the engine, creating an ear-splitting racket, and then drive off enjoying a good belly laugh.

At the least, the noise scares the daylight out of anyone unfortunate enough to be standing nearby.

Why can't we do something to get these nuisances off the road? Call it disturbing the peace or bad manners.

Broken glass. Some folks have nothing better to do than to break their empty beer bottles on the nearest parking lot.

Is this some indication of intelligence or breeding?

Politics. Man's imperfections show up best in the political arena.

Man may have been created just a little lower than the angels, except when it comes to a mud-slinging political campaign.

Hats. I have always had the opinion that hats cause baldness. Heredity has nothing to do with it. My father and uncle all say that wearing a helmet made them prematurely bald.

Hats may also cause senility...cutting off the flow of blood to the brain.

Hats should be worn only under the most extreme circumstances, such as to ward off the tropical sun.

Hats have come back into vogue, though nowadays they are more likely to be baseball caps or cowboy hats.

I really don't have anything against hats, so long as they are worn outside.

It's wearing them inside that I take exception to. I was taught that hats go on a hat rack in doors, not on the head.

Other folks were apparently taught that its fine to wear them in restaurants, theaters, the office, or even to bed.

So much for etiquette.

Some folks who like to say thank you after a purchase. Anyone who accepts money for a service rendered or an item sold should say thanks.

Some people seem to think they are doing the customer a favor by selling them something.

How did we ever get into this mess?

I suppose my pet peeves boil down to manners.

There are several ways to look at manners.

Mark Twain said "good breeding consists in concealing how much we think of ourselves and how little we think of the other person."

Edmund Burke said "Manners are of more importance than laws. Upon them, in great measure, the law depends."

There is more than a little truth in both viewpoints.

Floridians owe chiles

By Doyle Conner, Commissioner

Florida agriculture could not have reached its present level of achievement nor would it hold that position long without continued research. The plain fact is, no sooner do you get one problem resolved when along comes another one.

So it is good for the Florida agriculture industry to have a ranking member on the Senate Appropriations Committee, such as Sen. Layton Chiles of Polk County keeps an eye on our state's needs and interests.

At his urging during sessions on the 1984 appropriations bill, the Senate committee took a number of actions affecting the citrus industry and agriculture in general.

The Senate committee included language in the agriculture funding bill to prevent termination of research programs at Belle Glade, Lake Alfred and Fort Pierce.

It assigned a high priority to research activity on the sugarcane rootstock borer weevil, mole crickets and on the cornstalk borer.

It stated his concern over orange juice adulteration and called on the Food and Drug Administration to focus enforcement efforts on this problem and to cooperate with the citrus industry to reduce the economic harm which results from juice adulteration.

It recommended that the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service be provided with funds for methods development to work with the State of Florida to study the Caribbean fruit fly problem and try to establish fruit fly-free zones in Florida.

It urged the U.S. Department of Agriculture to expand cooperative research efforts with the University of Florida on biological control of tropical and sub-tropical pests.

Sen. Chiles' Senate colleagues agreed with him that these research efforts going on in Florida are too important for the federal government to short-change or drop them. These efforts and previous work in Florida have been vital in creating the proper agricultural environment for the benefit of the nation.

It is largely due to work done at Lake Alfred, Fort Pierce, Belle Glade, and the other Florida agricultural research stations that Florida occupies a preeminent position in production of citrus and sugar in the nation.

The Agricultural Research Service of USDA had planned to drop some research programs at Belle Glade, Lake Alfred and Fort Pierce in a general budget-cutting exercise. The committee, in effect, said, "Don't do that." It specifically directed the ARS to maintain staffing at Fort Pierce, filling two positions of professional researchers in soil, water and plant research which had become vacant through retirements.

The people of Florida owe a debt of gratitude to Sen. Chiles for this attention to detail in seeing that Florida and the nation maintain a technological edge in agricultural production.

Who's the bad driver here

Back in February and March, a couple city commissioners in South Bay started raising a fuss because there were no Black employees in city hall.

They were told that no vacancies had come up so none were hired.

Now it looks like Commissioner Willie Marshall has found a way around that little technicality.

He wants to create a vacancy, not by creating a new position, but by firing a current employee: namely, City Manager Max Harrelle.

Marshall claims that the city isn't "moving forward" fast enough with Harrelle in the driver's seat and he wants to get some new leadership.

This is one of the same commissioners who wanted to know why the city manager didn't give them a raise recently. Marshall had to be told the city commissioners give the city commissioners raises in pay.

Now, Marshall is claiming Harrelle is a liar who prevents the city from paving streets and hiring competent employees by hiding city funds and claiming there isn't enough money in the budget.

We wonder if Harrelle also locks the doors on city vehicles and claims he lost the keys in order to save on fuel costs.

Marshall also claims that Harrelle had told the commission he wouldn't be approving construction of 50 foot lots, in order to comply with a new building code passed in 1981, but pointed to at least one lot where Harrelle had given his approval.

If these accusations were correct, we think there might be cause for some sort of disciplinary action or even dismissal by the commission.

In this case, however, the facts don't jibe with the allegations.

When Harrelle suggested the city not pave certain streets, it was because the Palm Beach County Community Development program had already slated those same streets for paving so the city would have been redundant and wasting money that could be used elsewhere. That sounds like good fiscal management to us.

Harrelle never hid the amount of city funds from the commission and volunteered to look up the figure when asked for it at a city commission meeting. He was told by Marshall at that time that that wasn't necessary.

To the best of our knowledge, Harrelle never said all 50 foot lots couldn't be built on. Only those admitted to the city limits after the new code was passed.

Marshall has been trying to get rid of Harrelle for a long time. We hope he's not successful.

He claims the city hasn't advanced with Harrelle at the driver's wheel.

We think it has and agree with Mayor Donald Tanner who said if Marshall can't see the improvements, he must be driving around with his eyes closed.

Leave fireworks to the pros

Things have gone from very bad to worse in a year's time.

Last year, we chastised the crowd at the Pahokee July 4 fireworks display for dangerous use of "small" fireworks.

This year, the behavior of many individuals has gotten worse.

We can see now why many fireworks are illegal in most states of the union.

We witnessed many idiots firing small rockets and projectiles into the crowd of bystanders or towards the tent set up on the dike.

These projectiles, many of which are illegal in this state, were burning and traveling at high rates of speed. There is no way to accurately predict where one of the rockets would travel or land.

Any of these misguided missiles could cause serious injury to innocent bystanders.

We're glad to see residents celebrate the founding of the nation, but we think they should leave fireworks to the professionals, at least during public displays.

The inconsideration shown Monday night is dangerous to the rest of us.

Estelle Bess retires from hospital after 27 years in laundry service

PAHOKEE — After 27 years of duty, Estelle Bess, supervisor of laundry services, retired from Everglades Memorial Hospital, Thursday, June 30.

Hospital spokesman Dale Milita said "For a small institution like Everglades Memorial Hospital to provide in-house laundry services and it be a workable situation, financially and time-wise, it takes a very dedicated department, and the entire laundry service is outstanding. Bess has made sure that there is an almost unlimited supply of clean laundry ready for any type of situation. We have been extremely fortunate to have someone like Bess to oversee our operation."

"It is a tribute to the entire hospital to have employees maintain the longevity Bess has gained," Milita added.

"It shows that our hospital is a good place to work. When employees like Estelle Bess put so much of their lives in to seeing a job well done, that shows real dedication." There was a retirement party in the hospital cafeteria. Bess received a rod-and-reel and tackle box from the hospital administration and a cash gift from the employees.

Seminole protests game, claims umpire uncertified

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — The Seminole Supply Oldtimers are protesting a Thursday night game claiming one of the umpires wasn't certified as guaranteed by the city recreation department. The Oldtimers walked off the field June 30 in the sixth inning when they apparently determined that the umpire at first base, Mario Rodriguez, wasn't certified by the Amateur Softball Association.

"We paid for certified umpires," said Junior Meadows, the Oldtimers' pitcher.

The Oldtimers were down 5-6 to the Glades Ag Service team when the game was suspended.

They determined the umpire was uncertified after an appeal to first base. The Seminole Supply team had been appealing plays at the bases throughout the evening.

Seminole Supply had fallen to an early 5-0 deficit to Ag Supply, but, after holding Ag Supply to just one run in the next four innings, the Oldtimers came back to close to within one run when the protest was made and the game ended.

Oldtimer Wilford Markham started the game with a lead-off walk. Joe Davis followed with a single, but a baserunning mistake saw Markham get picked off at second when the ball was returned from the outfield.

Perry Ridgion flew out to left center and Willie Lee singled into left to put runners at first and second with two outs.

The inning ended when Eddie Robinson's grounder to the pitcher was relayed to first in time for the out.

Glades Ag Service opened up a five run lead with one hit in the bottom of the first.

Wayne Meadows reached base on an error by second baseman Carl Gilliam.

The next two batters, Terry Agnew and Danny Priests, flew out to right center field and it looked like the Oldtimers would soon be going back to the plate.

But Randy Worth reached base when Markham bobbled a fly ball to left field.

Manual Phillips followed with Glades Ag's only hit of the inning when he doubled into right center, driving in Meadows.

Ricky Chevalier was issued a two out walk and James Boyd took first on an error at third by Eddie Robinson.

With three runs in, Dave Griffin walked to lead the bases.

Chevalier and Boyd each crossed the plate when Frank Phillips infield grounder went past first baseman Perry Ridgion on the relay.

The inning ended when Mike Valentine tapped a grounder to shortstop Lee that was relayed to second Gilliam for the force.

The Oldtimers scored two runs in the top of the second inning.

Jerry Holcomb was walked to lead off the inning and Richard Gill followed with a single into left field.

Jay Seider popped to shortstop Manual Phillips for the first out and Gilliam struck out.

Junior Meadows drove in Holcomb with a single into right field and Markham singled into left center to drive in Gill.

Glades Ag Service threatened in the bottom of the inning.

the inning. Agnew's grounder to Lee was relayed to Gilliam at second for the force out.

Priests' ground ball to the shortstop was also thrown to Gilliam for a force out.

Randy Worth singled to left field to put runners at the corner with two outs.

Manual Phillips got under a throw from Junior Meadows and flew out to right fielder Holcomb to end the inning.

Ridgion singled to lead off the top of the third and Willie Lee's pop foul was caught by rightfielder James Boyd for the first out.

Robinson flew out to right centerfield and Holcomb's groundball was relayed by Manual Phillips to second for the force out to end the inning.

In the bottom of the inning, James Boyd hit a one out single down the left field line. He was followed by Griffin who was issued his second walk in as many trips to the plate.

Frank Phillips grounded to third baseman Robinson who tagged the bag to force out Boyd.

On Robinson's throw to first to try to double up Phillips, Griffin advanced to third.

He was left stranded when Boyd was forced out on a grounder by Valentine to the second baseman.

Gill singled into center to lead off the fourth and was doubled up when Seider grounded to shortstop Manual Phillips.

Gilliam singled to right and advanced to second when Junior Meadows crushed Sugar Supply 25-1 and moved into first place.

Roberson, the team's left fielder, went four for five and scored five runs. He hit three homers and one single.

The B Division Player of the Week is Terry O'Neal of Glades Sugar.

O'Neal went two for four when his team shut out Carter Electric 12-0 and knocked in one run, the game shortening twelfth run in the bottom of the sixth.

He belted a triple in the fourth and scored and reached base on a fielder's choice and scored the next inning.

He scored two runs in Glades Sugar's defeat of Crosby Mobile Homes and also collected two singles in four at bats.

Chevalier reached base on an error by Markham in left field to start the inning and advanced to second when Boyd grounded out to second baseman Andy Ballard, who replaced Gilliam as a pinch runner in the fourth inning.

Chevalier scored on a single to right by Griffin. The Oldtimers scored three runs in the top of the sixth inning.

With one out, Holcomb doubled to left and advanced to third on Eisey's single to left center field.

Ballard walked to load the bases and Meadows drove in Holcomb with a single to left.

Markham drove in two runs with a single to right centerfield.

In the bottom of the inning, Agnew reached base on an error by second baseman Ballard.

He advanced to third when Priests singled down the line in left field.

That's when the Oldtimers' made their final appeal of the game and walked off the field in protest.

In other B Division games, the Oldtimers defeated the No Names 8-7 and lost to Everglades Farm 12-3.

Glades Sugar beat Crosby Mobile Homes 13-2 and shut out Carter Electric 12-0.

Crosby Mobile Homes defeated Glade and Grove 15-10 and the No Names lost to Larry's 4-5.

Theo's beat Glade and Grove 4-1 and Glade and Grove also fell to F&W Farms 9-0.

F&W also beat Ag Service 9-8 and Ag Service beat Carter Electric 13-8.

In the A Division, Glades General beat Sugar Supply 14-6, and Hutton Brothers edged the All Stars 10-9. Mace beat Carter Chevrolet 13-7 and also beat Glades General, 5-1. Okelanta walked over Sugar Supply, 25-1.

Players of the week

A power hitter helped his team move into first place in the A Division and a base hit knocker aided his team in strengthening its hold on the B Division first place.

In the A Division, Doug Roberson knocked in nine runs with three home runs last week when Okelanta crushed Sugar Supply 25-1 and moved into first place.

Roberson, the team's left fielder, went four for five and scored five runs. He hit three homers and one single.

The B Division Player of the Week is Terry O'Neal of Glades Sugar.

O'Neal went two for four when his team shut out Carter Electric 12-0 and knocked in one run, the game shortening twelfth run in the bottom of the sixth.

He belted a triple in the fourth and scored and reached base on a fielder's choice and scored the next inning.

BENEFIELD-JONES

PBJC summer enrollment down

BELLE GLADE — While the other three campuses experienced an increase in their summer enrollments, enrollment at the Glades campus of Palm Beach Junior College apparently declined by about 6.1 percent. According to a release by Charles Graham, the PBJC registrar, the college as a whole experienced an overall gain of 8.6 percent over last year. Student semester hours increased 11.5

percent. An unexpected surge near the end of the registration period two weeks ago brought the total number of enrolled students to 3,382 for the summer session. The summer term is a six week session beginning late in June. It is traditionally the lowest point of enrollment during the academic year at the PBJC campuses.

CDS Class of '73 plans reunion

The Christian Day School Class of 1973 is having its 10 year reunion the weekend of July 8. They will be having it aboard the Scandinavian Sun, Sea Escape, enroute from Miami to Freeport, Grand Bahama.

On returning the class will go to Clewiston for a pool party cook-out with their families.

Pahokee chamber names director

PAHOKEE — R.D. Senterfelt has been appointed to fill a vacant seat on the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce board of directors. He fills the seat vacated by Mitchell Dobrow.

One more seat, vacated by Joe Alderman, has to be filled, according to President Diane Hall.

Teacher takes part in seminar

Rip Radcliffe, a teacher at Pahokee Junior-Senior High, has been participating in a writing seminar at the University of Florida in Gainesville, Florida.

The seminar, which ended the week of June 27, was designed to make writing teachers more creative in developing assignments for their students, according to a release.

Thirty-five teachers from around the state have participated in the workshop.

Camera available for loan at library

BELLE GLADE — For those who like to check out a book just for the pictures, it's possible to get around carrying those heavy tomes around.

A new program at the Belle Glade Municipal Library makes it possible for library users to create their own pictures.

Polaroid instant cameras with a built-in electronic flash and one-button operation can now be borrowed for up to three days by persons 16 years old or older, according to Librarian Phyllis J. Lilley.

"As of today, they're part of our circulating collection," said Lilley. "Like our books, magazines and records, they're here for the public to use and enjoy."

The cameras are made available through the "Check This Out Program" which provide the cameras.

The American Library Association and Polaroid's Customer Service Division are cooperating in the venture. Borrowers must provide their own film and there is a $3 a day late charge for overdue cameras.
